

Below is a [redacted] transcription of some Spanish words. [b]/[β], [d]/[ð], and [g]/[ɣ] are pairs of allophones whose members are in complementary distribution; that is, they occur in mutually exclusive (or nonoverlapping) phonetic environments. (See Linguistics, pp. 128–129.)

[β] is a voiced bilabial fricative.

[ð] is a voiced interdental fricative.

[ɣ] is a voiced dorsovelar fricative.

Spanish form	English gloss	Spanish form	English gloss
1. [ayrio]	“sour”	14. [kaβe]	“it fits”
2. [gustar]	“to be pleasing to”	15. [eðað]	“age”
3. [xweyo]	“game”	16. [komuniðað]	“community”
4. [albondiyas]	“meatballs”	17. [deðo]	“finger/toe”
5. [gastos]	“expenses”	18. [droɣas]	“drugs”
6. [gonsales]	surname	19. [seða]	“silk”
7. [yaya]	“sore, boil”	20. [ganaðo]	“cattle”
8. [uβa]	“grape”	21. [usteð]	“you (sg. polite)”
9. [futbol]	“soccer”	22. [bastante]	“plenty”
10. [kaldo]	“broth”	23. [brinkar]	“to jump”
11. [algo]	“something”	24. [suβo]	“I climb”
12. [sombra]	“shade”	25. [uβo]	“there was”
13. [saβino]	“cypress”	26. [kluβ]	“club”

Question

State the distribution of the allophones. [redacted]