Cumulative contents of previous volumes

Newson, Mark, The war of the left periphery. 4 (2000) : 83–106

Newson, Mark, The coordinate principle. 5 (2002) : 95–116

Starčević, Attila, Yod dropping in English and Croatian: some consonantal problems. 5 (2002) : 117–137

Reményi, Andrea Ágnes, Know thyself: Basic addressing patterns at the English Linguistics Department. 1994 : 137–146

Shanklin, M. Trevor, The communication of grammatical proficiency. 1994 : 147–174

Siptár, Péter, The vowel inventory of Hungarian: Its size and structure. 1994 : 175–184

Siptár, Péter, A Janus-faced Hungarian consonant. 2 (1996) : 83–96

Nádasdy, Ádám and Péter Siptár, Vowel length in present-day spoken Hungarian. 3 (1998) : 149–172

Siptár, Péter, Degemination in Hungarian. 4 (2000) : 107–115

Szigetvári, Péter, Coronality, velarity and why they are special. 1994 : 185–224

Szigetvári, Péter, Laryngeal contrasts and problematic representations. 2 (1996) : 97–110

Szigetvári, Péter, Voice assimilation in Hungarian: the hitches. 3 (1998) : 223–236

Szigetvári, Péter, Why CVCV. 4 (2000) : 117–152

Szigetvári, Péter, Syncope in English. 5 (2002) : 139–149

Tóth, Zsuzsanna, Analysis of tonal sequences in English. 3 (1998) : 237–249

Törkenczy, Miklós, *Coronal underspecification and the CCiVCi constraint. 1994 : 225–232

Varga, László, Rhythmic stress alternation in Hungarian. 1994 : 233–254

Varga, László, Hungarian intonation contours. 2 (1996) : 111–144

Varga, László, The Intonational Phrase and Secondary Intonational Phrase Formation in Hungarian. 3 (1998) : 251–263

Varga, László, Approaches to Rhythmical Variation in English. 4 (2000) : 153–178

Wenszky, Nóra, The stress patterns of -ative words. 3 (1998) : 265–297

Wenszky, Nóra, Halle's recent views on primary word stress. 4 (2000) : 179–193

⋆ ⋆ ⋆

These papers are downloadable in postscript and portable document format from
HTTP://WWW.BTK.ELTE.HU/DELG/PUBLICATIONS/EVEN

Our department is willing to exchange its publications for similar books of other linguistics departments.

Also visit the website of The Odd Yearbook, collections of undergraduate papers in linguistics at
HTTP://WWW.BTK.ELTE.HU/DELG/PUBLICATIONS/ODD